G A M I N G

Metric Gaming’s Modulus platform is the industry’s first truly multi-channel, supplier agnostic, multi-tenant platform built to navigate an increasingly fragmented and divergent regulatory landscape. The Modulus platform harmoniously synthesizes best of breed content with innovative proprietary products and features designed to amplify the recreational customer experience. Crafted to facilitate previously unseen degrees of product configurability, the unrivalled flexibility and dynamism of the platform solves many present-day challenges.

Modular Enterprise Level Technology

Developed by industry veterans with decades of expertise creating fast, secure and future-safe gambling technology, the high throughput system is capable of handling over 2,000 wagers per second and achieves an uptime KPI of at least 99.8%.

Product Breadth and Depth

Bringing market leading proprietary products, innovative features and ready access to best-of-breed content providers together with next-gen risk management capabilities, Metric offers the means to compete against the best.

Proven Expertise

With a wealth of demonstrable experience growing iGaming businesses and providing consultative support to leading operators, Metric is uniquely placed to accelerate growth plans for established operators and provide a reliable, superior route to market.

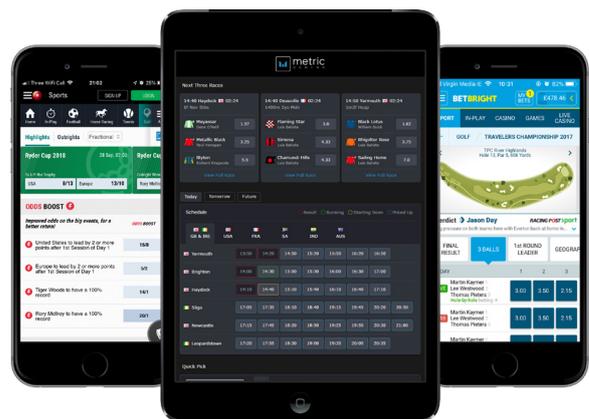

Founded by World Poker Tour champion Martin deKniff and run by former Executives of some of the most established operators in the industry, Metric Gaming is a B2B company that knows how to think B2C.

Metric's Complete Sportsbook offers established operators the opportunity to reduce Sportsbook costs while retaining excellent service standards & a high degree of control, together with instant competitiveness and consultative support for those that are new to sports betting.

Proprietary Products

In conjunction with working with the best-of-breed content providers Metric has developed a suite of modular, proprietary products built in-house. These products, delivered through Metric's state-of-the-art Modulus Platform, are available as stand-alone services providing cost effective access to customizable products competitive with those of the most recognizable industry brands.

Metric's Modulus platform is built to solve the present-day challenges posed by an increasingly fragmented international regulatory landscape working counter-trend to operators' global consolidation, the Modulus platform is refreshingly unencumbered by the limitations of using 20th century tools to solve 21st century problems.

The Modulus platform is feed agnostic allowing operators to cherry pick and seamlessly coalesce content from the most strategically and/or commercially appropriate suppliers into a single, coherent and consistent customer experience, it crucially allows operators to leverage the innovative features built into the Modulus platform, regardless of supplier.

The dynamism of the Modulus Platform extends to deliver previously unheard of levels of configurability, managed through automated templated logic, for operators across material product levers such as time based differential margins, content offering, cash-out margins, limits, bet delays, odds ladders and place terms.

Unlike our competitors, Metric store bets in their simplest form and our superior technology enables us to build modern risk tools allowing our specialist Trading & Analytics teams, handpicked from Tier 1 operators, to employ cutting-edge pricing, liability and customer management techniques to deliver a quality of service usually the preserve of only the most established brands.

Product differentiation by:

- Jurisdiction; enter regulated product jurisdictions, such as Italy or Australia, without impacting existing or future opportunities
- Taxation; enter divergent jurisdictions such as Germany or the UK on a single technology stack
- Channel; bona fide product optimization across Mobile, Desktop & Retail to effectively monetize customer cohorts across channels
- Brand; offer distinct products in the same territory without end users detecting a common source
